ANNUAL REPORTS

PRESIDENT AND TREASURER

1918-1919

PRESIDENT'S ANNUAL REPORT

---

To the Board of Trustees of Wellesley College:—

I have the honor to present a report for the year closing June 30, 1919. As usual the supplementary reports of the Dean, the Librarian, and the Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Instruction are published in full.

During the year death has removed one more member of the early faculty of the College, Miss Mary Elisabeth Horton, Professor of Greek from the opening in 1875 to her resignation in 1887. Miss Horton died at her home in Wellesley, July 30, 1918, the last of the heads of department appointed by the founder. Miss Horton was largely self-taught, but she had the nature of the true scholar,—precision, enthusiasm, a keen and original mind, and power of intense application. As a resident of Wellesley, she was from the first cognizant of Mr. Durant's plans, and she entered with characteristic ardor into the realization of them. Her students loved her Greek and they loved her. Year after year as they returned to visit the College, they sought Miss Horton for sympathy, for renewal of inspiration, and not less for the enjoyment of that delicate, sportive humor which completed her vivid charm. In bequeathing to the College her estate on Washington Street, a gift most gratefully and reverently accepted, Miss Horton set the seal upon a lifetime of devotion.

The College has also lost by death two active members of the teaching staff. On March 5 Caroline Angeline Hardwicke, Assistant Professor of Reading and Speaking, died in Jamaica Plain after an illness of several months. Miss Hardwicke came to the College as instructor in 1912 and received her promotion in 1917. She brought to her work the qualities of a logical and constructive mind, appreciation of æsthetic values, clear judgment, tireless energy, enthusiasm, vital interest in her students.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE

On June 16 Anna White Devereaux, Lecturer on the Theory and Practice of the Kindergarten, died at her home in Marblehead. Although under appointment for the year, Miss Devereaux's failing health had not permitted her to carry her work as head of the Anne Page Memorial Kindergarten, or to give the lectures in the department of Education. Miss Devereaux was one of the best known kindergartners in the country, coming to Wellesley in 1913 after a period of fourteen years in charge of the kindergarten training class in the State Normal School in Lowell. Her radiant, buoyant spirit diffused hope and joy among her colleagues and pupils. Her faith in human nature, her unselfish devotion to the welfare of others, her beautiful Christian character will be an abiding memory in the hearts of those who knew her.

The Board of Trustees is fortunate in securing the addition of the two members elected at the meeting on Commencement Day, June 13. Mr. Alfred L. Aiken, B.A., Yale University, brings to the Board a wide business experience in banking. He was for two years Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, and since 1918 has been President of the National Shawmut Bank, while Dr. David L. Edsall, B.A., Princeton, M.D., University of Pennsylvania, now Dean of the Harvard Medical School, is a strong representative on the academic side.

At the end of the year under review Miss Angie Clara Chapin, Professor of Greek Language and Literature, retired after a service of forty years. Miss Chapin was appointed instructor in Greek in 1879, associate professor in 1886, and full professor in 1887. In recognition of her long and devoted service the Trustees appointed Miss Chapin Professor of Greek Emeritus, and provided for the retiring grant which will after a year be assumed by the Carnegie Foundation. During the years 1911-13 Miss Chapin served the College as Acting Dean, bringing to this office the same exactness in detail, keen sense of justice, and interest in students which had always characterized her work as a teacher. For a long term of years Miss Chapin had served as chairman of the Board of Examiners, the predecessor of the present Board of Admission. Miss Chapin belongs to the group of Michigan women to whom the College owes so much, and among whom were Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer and Professor Katharine Coman.

Dr. Alice Robertson, Professor of Zoology, who has been on Sabbatical leave during the year, has resigned because of ill health. Dr. Robertson served the College as instructor from 1906-09, as associate professor from 1909 to her appointment as full professor in 1912. In spite of waning physical vigor, she still carried her work successfully, with all her wonted devotion and abounding cheerfulness.

With profound regret the College received the resignation of Dr. Lincoln Ware Riddle, Professor of Botany, to take effect in June. Dr. Riddle received his first appointment as instructor in 1904; he was made associate professor in 1909, and full professor in 1918. It is a gratification to know that only a call from Harvard University to take up work in the laboratory in which he received his training could have induced Dr. Riddle to leave Wellesley. The town shares with the College in regret at losing both Dr. and Mrs. Riddle.

Franklin Charles Fetté, M.A., Assistant Professor of Hygiene, resigned in June to accept the position of Professor of Physiology and Director of Physical Education in the Government Normal College at Peking, China. Mr. Fetté has been eminently successful at Wellesley, and his students and colleagues on the faculty greatly regret the closing of his service to the College.

Late in the summer of 1918 Mr. Osmond T. Robert, Associate Professor of French, asked to be released in order to accept an appointment at Smith College, and in November Dr. Ruth F. Allen, Assistant Professor of Botany, resigned to accept another position.

Promotions within the faculty which become operative in 1919-20 are as follows: from instructor to assistant professor, Myrtila Avery, B.L.S., M.A., Art; Alice Maria Ottley, M.A., Botany; Mabel Minerva Young, Ph.D., Mathematics; from assistant to instructor, Regina Emma Stockhausen, M.A., Botany.

The year has been unusual in the large number of officers on leave of absence, granted in most cases for war service. Miss Margaret H. Jackson, Professor of Italian, was granted Sabbatical leave, and sailed in July to work with the Wellesley Unit in France. She was soon assigned the work of "searcher," visiting hospitals to find traces of the missing, and proving a friend and comforter to many a homesick soldier. After six months with the Unit Miss Jackson went to Italy for rest and refreshment. Mr. Arthur O. Norton, Professor of the History and Principles of Education, has been absent on Sabbatical leave in Government service, spending the year in Washington as Chief of the Information Section in connection with the housing program. Mr. Norton reports that "the mental refreshment of doing something totally out of one's field is a very useful way of spending a Sabbatical year." Dr. Louise S. McDowell, Professor of Physics, who went to Washington in the summer to work for the Bureau of Standards, proved of such value to the department that an urgent request was sent to the College that she be granted leave of absence for the first semester to continue her work, and adjustments were made which enabled her to stay for that time. Miss Eliza J. Newkirk, Lecturer in the History of Architecture, was granted leave of absence for the second semester for work abroad under the Y. M. C. A., and has been giving lectures in Art and conducting parties of soldiers to the architectural treasures of France and Italy. Similar leave was also granted Miss Blanche F. Brocklebank, Instructor in Pianoforte, for the first semester, in order that she might take up canteen work in which her musical talent proved a valuable asset. Miss Louise H. Snowden, Instructor in History, and Miss Gladys P. Haines, Instructor in French, have also been doing canteen work in France. Continued leave of absence was granted to Dr. Horace B. English, Instructor in Philosophy and Psychology, who had been called to active service in 1917; he has been promoted to captain's rank, and placed in positions of much responsibility, including that of chief psychological examiner.

Leave of absence for other than war work was granted to Dr. Laura Emma Lockwood, Associate Professor of English Language, who spent part of the year in teaching at the University of Washington, Seattle, to Dr. Caroline B. Thompson, Professor of Zoology (for the second semester), Dr. Martha P. Conant, Associate Professor of English Literature (for the first semester), Miss Hetty S. Wheeler, Instructor in Musical Theory, and Mrs. Helene B. Magee, Instructor in Rhetoric and Composition. An exchange, arranged between Dr. Clara E. Smith, Associate Professor of Mathematics, and Dr. Florence P. Lewis, Associate Professor in Goucher College, has proved highly satisfactory. Miss Lewis readily adapted herself to Wellesley methods, and rendered stimulating service to the department of Mathematics.

The year had hardly opened when the prevailing influenza became epidemic and made many demands upon the administration of the College. Immediate adjustments were necessary to provide for the care of students who could not be accommodated at Simpson Hospital. Joslin, the Elms, and Lovewell were emptied of their regular students in quick succession, and converted into temporary hospitals, while Horton House, which came into the possession of the College on October first, was filled with convalescent students within twenty-four hours. The College owes a debt of gratitude to the many alumnae who volunteered their services during the period of anxiety, to the members of the faculty who carried extra responsibility of various kinds, and to the splendid spirit of the students who loyally accepted the inconveniences and restrictions placed upon them. It is both a pleasure and a duty to make public acknowledgment of the services of Dr. Annina C. Rondinella who generously gave her time to hold the daily office hours for students at Simpson Hospital, thus releasing Dr. Raymond for attendance in the wards. Too much cannot be said of the prompt action of Dr. Raymond, her ceaseless watchfulness and untiring care in meeting every emergency. Her report, presented to the Trustees at the November meeting, stated that there were 255 cases, of which 20 were treated at home. There was, unfortunately, one death, that of Jeanne De Forest, a freshman from Cincinnati, Ohio, who having had pneumonia in her high school days, was unable to withstand the attack of influenza. By order of the Board of Health no services were held on Sundays, September 29, October 6 and 13, and all public appointments were cancelled until after the middle of October. A rigid quarantine, forbidding students to go even to the village, to use trolleys or trains, or to attend any public gathering was in force for many weeks. In fact all restrictions were not removed until February, when Dr. Raymond was able to report for the first time that not even a mild case of influenza existed within the college infirmary.

Twenty-one new courses for 1918-19 were approved by the Academic Council and the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees as follows:—

- Art 7. Special study in the Art of the Middle Ages. Three hours a week; one year. Grade III.
- Art 17. Romanesque and Gothic Sculpture. Three hours a week; one year. Grade II.
- Astronomy 8. Observatory Practice. One to three hours a week; one year. Grade II.
- Biblical History 15. Interpretation of Christianity. Three hours a week; one year. Grade III.
- Botany 15. Advanced Bacteriology. Three hours a week; one year. Grade III.
- Economics 5. Railroads. Three hours a week; one semester. Grade III.
- Education 10. Principles and Methods of teaching French in Secondary Schools. Three hours a week; one semester. Grade III.
- English Literature 19. The British Ballad. Three hours a week; one semester. Grade II.
- Latin 6. Poetry of the Augustan Age. Three hours a week; one semester. Grade II.
- Latin 13. Cicero: Essays and Letters. Three hours a week; one semester. Grade II.
- Latin 21. Latin Literature of the Early Christian Church. Three hours a week; one semester. Grade III.
- Latin 22. History of Latin Poetry. Three hours a week; one semester. Grade III.
- Mathematics 17. Descriptive Geometry. Three hours a week; one year. Grade III.
- Philosophy 21. Advanced Logic (for graduate students only). Three hours a week; one semester. Grade III.
- Physics 12. Light. Mathematical Theory. Three hours a week; one semester. Grade III.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

- Reading and Speaking 5. Fundamental Course in Public Speaking. One hour a week; one year. Grade I.
- Spanish 7. Advanced Conversation and Composition. One hour a week; one year. Grade II.

The remaining four are special war courses:—

- Botany 10. The Principles of Agriculture. Three hours a week; one year. Grade III.
- Physics 14. The Automobile. One hour a week; one year. Grade II.
- Physics 13. Household Physics. Three hours a week; one semester. Grade II.
- Physics 15. Photography. One hour a week; one year. Grade II.

The joint committee of Trustees and faculty authorized by vote of the Trustees in December, 1917, to make an academic survey of the College has been working through various sub-committees. It is expected that a report will be presented sometime during the next academic year. Meantime each department has been asked to review its whole field of work, with a view to determine how far the courses offered fulfil the purpose as defined. All departments of science have felt the added stimulus which the war has brought to scientific research, and the departments of Chemistry and Physics have shown a decided increase in numbers. For the first time all candidates for the certificate of the department of Hygiene this year hold the Bachelor's degree. Thus the original plan that this normal course should ultimately be open only to college graduates is fulfilled. The raising of the standard of admission to this course and the war demand for college graduates in almost every field of endeavor have combined to lessen very substantially the number of candidates for the certificate. It is believed that this decrease is temporary only. On the initiative of Professor Case, the department of Philosophy and Psychology inaugurated last fall a set of psychological tests for incoming freshmen. The tests, devised by Professor Case, with the approval of Professor Gamble, were carried on under their joint supervision, and the study of the results (not yet complete) led the department to ask from the Academic Council authority to give another series of tests this fall. Three members of the department, Professor Calkins, Professor Gamble, and Miss MacKinnon, have conducted a University Extension Course in Boston during the winter under the Department of University Extension of the Massachusetts Board of Education.

The College has welcomed a number of distinguished visitors during the year. On October 29 four members of the British Educational Mission to the United States were entertained at luncheon in Tower Court, Miss Caroline Spurgeon, Professor of English Literature, Bedford College, University of London, Miss Rose Sidgwick, Lecturer on Ancient History, University of Birmingham, Sir Henry Miers, Vice-Chancellor of the University of Manchester and Professor of Crystallography, and Dr. John Joly, Professor of Geology and Mineralogy, Trinity College, Dublin. The party visited classes and were shown the buildings and grounds. Miss Spurgeon spoke before classes in English Literature and Miss Sidgwick, in History. It was a great shock to the many friends whom Miss Sidgwick had made in this country to learn of her death in New York on December 28, on the eve of her departure for England. Her American friends desire to found a lasting tribute to her character and services, and to make closer the bonds of friendship between England and America by establishing a fellowship in the United States in her memory. A committee with Dean Virginia C. Gildersleeve as chairman has undertaken to raise $25,000 for the purpose, and it is the plan to award the fellowship annually to an English woman for a year of graduate study in an American college or university.

No guest has ever been accorded a more enthusiastic reception than that extended to Madame Catherine Breshkovsky on February 19, when she paid her second visit to Wellesley after an absence of fifteen years. Madame Breshkovsky spoke in the chapel in the afternoon to a crowded and most attentive audience on present conditions in Russia, making a very strong appeal for the children orphaned by the war. On Thursday morning she spoke again briefly in chapel urging upon the students the debt which they owed to the community for the education which they were receiving in college. Those who heard Madame Breshkovsky speak in other places and also at Wellesley felt that the youth and promise of her Wellesley audience proved a great inspiration to her. It was certainly true that in her greetings to the students she forgot the years of privation and was as young in spirit as her audience. The well known story of her sacrifices and the hardships she had endured, combined with her courage, her strength, her sweetness and youthful buoyance made a peculiarly strong appeal to the students who swarmed about her almost from the moment of her arrival to her departure, while her response to their welcome and her interest in each individual will never be forgotten.

It was a pleasure to have Mlle. Clément return to us again this year for two lectures on conditions in France, while the industrial conditions in that country and England were convincingly presented by Mr. Edwin Farnham Greene, who came to us with the interesting events of his trip still fresh in his memory. The well known Spanish scholar and author, Senorita Maria de Maeztu, lectured in Spanish on Education in Spain. A complete list of lectures and addresses will be found in the appendix.

Following the plan of previous years, Dr. Henry S. Coffin conducted five services during the week beginning March 16. Dr. Coffin made his usual strong appeal, and his very stimulating addresses were followed by conferences with students in groups large or small throughout his visit.

The plan as outlined in the last report of having all the war activities of the College organized under the War Council has been effectively carried out. From the War Chest and the Commencement play of 1918 proceeds of $1,656 were turned over to the Red Cross; this sum does not include the membership fees of the 1,159 members of the College Auxiliary. The War Council, composed of faculty and students, agreed that if a Red Cross workroom were to be maintained, it should be under the supervision of a paid director. The College was fortunate enough to secure the services of Mrs. Clara Ames Hayward, 1883, for this position. At the beginning of the year students were asked to pledge the amount of time that they were prepared to give each week to the Red Cross workroom; as a result of these pledges—almost all conscientiously kept—

WELLESLEY COLLEGE

13,535 articles were made in the workroom. The contributions which have been paid to the War Chest amount to over $10,700. The contributions of the Christian Association to Home and Foreign Missions have been kept up, and this year amount to over $4,000. The Wellesley College quota for the United War Work Drive in November was fixed at $20,000, and the College went over the top by subscribing more than $22,000. The total subscription to the five Liberty Loans amounted to $389,850.

Among the results of the war is the use that has been made during the summer of the college equipment. In the very beginning of the summer of 1918 Tower Court and Claflin Hall were opened to the National League of Women Workers for its annual convention. The appreciation of the three hundred girls of the opportunities offered at Wellesley was summed up in the letter of their president, expressing to the "Trustees of Wellesley College our gratitude for your marvelous hospitality which has made our convention at Wellesley the most beautiful and unique one in the League's history." Early in the fall of 1918 a request was presented from the Committee on the Conference for Church Work (of the Episcopal Church) for permission to hold the conference in June, 1919, at the College. This request received the cordial endorsement of Bishop Lawrence, and was granted by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees. The two hundred members of the conference occupied Tower Court from June 19-30, while classes were held in the Administration Building, with a course in organ music conducted in the chapel by Professor Macdougall. Hearty appreciation was expressed for the hospitality offered by the College, and the hope voiced that it might be again extended for the conference in 1920.

The last report called attention to the request presented by the Woman's Land Army of America to the College to open a training camp for supervisors of agricultural units. This camp was opened on August first and continued through the month of September. Inasmuch as a separate report of this Training Camp has been printed in full, it is not necessary to describe the Camp at length here. The publication of this report has brought forth renewed appreciation of the work which the Camp accomplished, and already the experience has proved of use in many ways. The College may well feel that a piece of pioneer work was thoroughly and efficiently done. Miss Edith Diehl, the Director of the Camp, is chiefly responsible for the publication of the report.

It will be recalled that in 1913 a bequest of $1,000 was made to Wellesley under the will of Elizabeth A. Hillman, "the interest to be paid each year to that student in the sophomore class that made the highest yearly average in Mathematics . . . to be called the 'Mary G. Hillman Mathematics Prize.'" Because of the difficulty in awarding the prize, the department of Mathematics submitted various proposals to the executor of the will of Miss Hillman with the result that the following change has been accepted by him and approved by the Board of Trustees: "To create a Mathematical Scholarship to be awarded by the department annually to a needy student of exceptional ability in Mathematics, and to be known as the Mary G. Hillman Mathematical Scholarship." On the recommendation of the department this scholarship was awarded in June to Ruth C. Greene, 1920, to whom the Hillman prize had been awarded in 1918.

During the year under review the College has received by bequest of Alice Cora Tuck, a former student of the College, a gift of ten thousand dollars to create the Marie Louise Tuck Scholarship Fund. Miss Marie Louise Tuck was a member of the class of 1883, and again the College receives proof of the loyalty of its alumnae and of the value which they set upon the education received at Wellesley.

A scholarship to the annual value of $100 has been established by Miss Candace C. Stimson in memory of her father, Dr. Lewis Atterbury Stimson. This scholarship is to be awarded for excellence in Mathematics; the first award has been made to Brenda P. Cameron, 1920. The Ruth Ingersoll Goldmark Fellowship for 1919-20 has been awarded to Viola Blackburn of the class of 1918, who has this year been a graduate student in the department of English Literature, and who proposes next year to study at the University of Chicago. The John

WELLESLEY COLLEGE

Masefield Prize for excellence in prose writing was awarded in June to Margaret Hickenlooper Withrow, and for excellence in verse writing, to Dorothy Elizabeth Collins. The Alice Freeman Palmer Fellowship has been awarded for the year 1919-20 to Beatrice Allard, B.A., Mount Holyoke, 1915, Fellow in Semitic languages in Bryn Mawr College, 1916-18; holder of the Mary E. Woolley Fellowship of Mount Holyoke College, 1918-19. Subject, Semitic Literature.

The friends of Lucy A. Plympton, a member of the classes of 1899 and 1900, have erected a beautiful lakeside memorial on the path to Tupelo Point just beyond the Phi Sigma House. The site on the shore between two overhanging oaks determined the octagonal shape and general design of the seat which is made of natural rock face stone of a warm gray color. In the centre of the floor is a simple bronze tablet with the following inscription:—

“Her many friends and comrades bid you keep fresh the memory of Lucy Annabel Plympton, Wellesley 1899-1900, lover of tree and wind and water, of bird and flower and friendly beast.”

Gifts of varying amounts from alumnæ and trustees for the furnishing of the Durant Guest House have been received during the past year, as well as generous contributions from the Associates for the maintenance of the house. The latest gift is a small grand piano from Ex-President Hazard. This piano was in place for the Commencement festivities. Miss Hazard also presented to the Music Library two very interesting and valuable books,—a very beautiful manuscript Rituale probably of the 14th or early 15th century, and a Cantorinus printed at the Giunta Press in Venice in 1550. Through the generosity of members of the Board of Trustees and of the faculty, a portrait of Professor Palmer, the generous contributor to the book treasures of the Library, is to be painted by Winifred Smith Rieber and placed in the Treasure Room. A complete list of gifts will be found in the appendix.

At the close of the year, when the electives of students have been filed for the coming year, the administration is impressed afresh with the needs of the College. Those which seem immediately pressing are the needs of the departments of science. As was stated on Commencement Day, with the exception of the department of Astronomy, no one of the science departments is adequately housed. Botany and Chemistry before the fire had outgrown their quarters. The crowded condition of these departments has increased rather than diminished even though a small addition was put on the Chemistry Building last summer. Geology, Physics, and Zoology, all of whose equipment was destroyed at the time of the fire, are still without a permanent abiding place, and to satisfy the most immediate demands of these departments money must be spent this summer to make further temporary provision. It seems unfortunate that at a time when the world is making great demands of the science departments in women's colleges, Wellesley should be without an adequate equipment, and should have to spend money for temporary provision which will ultimately be superseded by permanent quarters. No need is more pressing than that of gifts for permanent laboratories for our departments of science.

The department of Hygiene has for many years been eager to secure a fund for an addition to the gymnasium which should include a swimming pool. How keenly the students in this department feel the lack of this swimming pool is evidenced by the fact that three Liberty bonds of fifty dollars each have been presented to the department for this purpose during the year quite unsolicited,—one from the freshmen in the Washington-Webb group in the village, the second from the Ridgeway group, and the third from the special students in the department.

In giving a list of the needs of the College it seems almost unnecessary to point out the fact that the accommodation for students on the campus is not sufficient to house the three upper classes. This fact was so keenly appreciated by the Trustees that in April after careful consideration it was decided to build the additions to Pomeroy and Cazenove which will complete the quadrangle group. These additions will provide for about forty-eight students, and it is hoped that the building may be ready for occupancy by the beginning of the second semester.

Urgent as is the necessity for academic buildings and halls of residence, the vital essential is for additional salary endowment. The million dollar endowment fund which was raised in 1915 is entirely inadequate to meet the demand for salary increases which are just and right, and which must be provided for if Wellesley is to keep her place in the foremost ranks of colleges for women. In view of this need for salary endowment it was a great pleasure to be able to announce at Commencement that the College had received from an unnamed donor a gift in securities worth fifty thousand dollars for the endowment of the professorship of English Literature. It is hoped that this gift will inspire other similar offerings for salary endowment. It is a great satisfaction to feel that Wellesley College is to share in the generous bequest of Mrs. Russell Sage. The sum which Wellesley, in common with other women's colleges, will receive from this estate is not yet exactly determined, but it will probably be a very important factor in meeting the demands of the College for endowment and buildings. As the gift is entirely unrestricted, it will remain for the Trustees to decide how the sum shall be expended.

The first building of the academic group on Norumbega Hill is nearing completion, and will be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the next college year. By the decision of the Trustees this building has been given the name of Founders Hall, since it replaces in large part the academic facilities which were furnished by College Hall, the gift of the Founders. As the time approaches for the completion of Founders Hall and the resulting removal of all classrooms from the temporary Administration Building, there comes a fresh realization of the inconvenience and congestion which the College has suffered during the past five years. The President takes this opportunity to express her appreciation of the loyalty with which the whole official staff of the College and the student body have accepted the inconvenience of the temporary building, and feels that the College is to be congratulated upon the fine spirit which has been shown throughout these five years by both students and officers.

ELLEN F. PENDLETON,
President.

REPORT OF THE DEAN

To the President of Wellesley College:—

I have the honor to submit the following report for the year closing July 1, 1919. During the academic year 1918-1919, 223 courses were actually given by the various departments, aggregating 489½ hours per week, not including hours duplicated because of additional sections of the same course. These 223 courses include only one course given by the department of Hygiene, namely the lecture course prescribed for freshmen. The distribution of these courses in the various departments will be given in the appendix. The following table shows the relative amount of instruction given by the various departments in the past four years. The unit of instruction used is the instruction of one student, one hour a week for one academic year.

REPORT OF THE DEAN

In June, 1919, 327 students received the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Two others were voted the degree in November, 1918. This makes the total number of Bachelors' degrees conferred by the College 6,567. The academic requirement for this degree is the satisfactory completion of fifty-nine hours of class work. For the completion of her work toward this degree, every student must show that she has carried successfully nine hours in each of two departments, or twelve hours in one department and six in another.

The following table shows the number of students in the class of 1919 who completed nine or more hours in the various departments:—

English Literature . . . . .	140*	Art . . . . .	18
History . . . . .	93	Philosophy . . . . .	15
French . . . . .	38	Geology . . . . .	11

Botany . . . . .	25	Physics . . . . .	2
Musical Theory . . . . .	23	English Language . . . . .	0
Latin . . . . .	18	Italian . . . . .	0

Of these 327 graduates, 39 won the rank of Durant Honor Scholars, and 50 the rank of Wellesley College Scholars.

The total number of students registered November, 1918, was 1,594, classified as follows:—

Resident candidates for the M.A. degree . . . . .	17
Candidates for the B.A. degree . . . . .	1,541
Seniors . . . . .	308
Juniors . . . . .	366

Freshmen . . . . .	492
Non-candidates for degrees . . . . .	36
Total . . . . .	1,594

* English Language must be counted to make up the nine hours in one instance under English Literature, and in three under English Composition.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE

Compared with the registration of November, 1917, the figures show a net loss of eighteen.

The total number of new students admitted in September, 1918, was 509, twenty-four more than were admitted in September, 1917. These 509 new students are classified as follows:—

REPORT OF THE DEAN

Freshmen . . . . .	472
Sophomores . . . . .	12
Juniors . . . . .	3
Specials . . . . .	18
Graduate Students . . . . .	4

Of these 509 new students, 28 applied for advanced standing, 15 secured rank above that of freshman, and one other had sufficient advanced work accepted to give her sophomore rank, but had not met all the admission requirements. These 16 came from the following institutions:—

Barnard College . . . . .	1
Brown University . . . . .	1
Butler College and Indiana University . . . . .	1
Jackson College . . . . .	1
Mount Holyoke College . . . . .	1
Ohio Wesleyan University . . . . .	1
Randolph Macon Woman's College . . . . .	1
Smith College . . . . .	1
University of California . . . . .	1

University of Minnesota . . . . .	1
University of Nebraska . . . . .	2
University of Wisconsin . . . . .	1
Washington University, St. Louis, Mo. . . . .	1
Wooster College . . . . .	1

The freshman class, which numbers 492, includes 13 students who were in college last year and who are still ranked as freshmen, 7 former students returning after an absence and 472 new students. These 472 new students were admitted as follows:—

From public schools . . . . .	284
From private schools . . . . .	154
From public and private schools . . . . .	34
By certificate . . . . .	339
Partly by certificate and partly by examination . . . . .	112
Wholly by examination . . . . .	21*

296 schools are represented by these 472 new freshmen
 91 of these schools are situated in New England
 205 outside of New England

* Of these 21, 9 were admitted by the comprehensive examinations.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE

Of the new freshmen, 92 took all or a part of their examinations under the College Entrance Examination Board. Twenty others took examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board, but as they were unsuccessful or took examinations which did not meet the requirement, they were obliged to take the September examinations offered at Wellesley, and therefore the certificate of the Board was not used for admission.

Every student entering Wellesley must present fifteen points for admission. Of these points eleven are prescribed as follows:—

- Three points in English.
- Four points in Latin.
- Three points in Mathematics.
- One point in History.

Of the remaining four points, three must be offered in some foreign language other than Latin, and the fourth point in either Botany, Chemistry, History, Physics, or Music; or three points in either French or German and one point in Greek; or two points in each of two languages French, German, Spanish, Greek; or two points in one language with two separate points in Botany, Chemistry, Physics, Music, Greek, or History. A single point may be offered only in Botany, Chemistry, Physics, Music, or Greek, in addition to the previously mentioned point in History, and a second point in History is allowed in place of one point in Science, Music, or Greek, provided Ancient History is one of these two points. The 472 new freshmen fulfilled these requirements as follows:—

Three points in Greek . . . . .	8
Three points in German . . . . .	150
Three points in French . . . . .	212
Two points in Greek . . . . .	1
Two points in French . . . . .	111

Two points in Spanish . . . . .	10
One point in Chemistry . . . . .	127
One point in Physics . . . . .	149
One point in Botany . . . . .	18
One point in Music . . . . .	7
One point in History (elective) . . . . .	170

REPORT OF THE DEAN

One hundred and twelve students who were admitted without conditions offered credentials which aggregated more than the fifteen points prescribed for admission. The largest number of points accepted for any candidate was 19. Four other students, who were conditioned in work absolutely prescribed for admission, offered satisfactory credentials in the other subjects, aggregating 4 points. Of the 472 new students in this year's freshman class, 438 were admitted without conditions, or more than 92 per cent, and of the 34 admitted with conditions, 32 were conditioned in one subject only, and 25 in one point or less.

The following table shows the subjects elected by freshmen in the last three years:—

WELLESLEY COLLEGE

That the number of Freshmen in September, 1918, is unusually large may be due to the fact that this is the last year when students are admitted by certificate.

One notes in connection with War Service the gain in the election of Chemistry, and the increase in the election of French and Spanish as languages of immediate practical value. Other variations in election are less marked. Since the largest electives for all classes continue to be in the humanities and since the pressure for admission from more students than we can find places for continues we are confirmed in our belief that the college of liberal arts justifies itself as a demand of the people.

Respectfully submitted,

ALICE V. WAITE,
Dean.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON GRADUATE INSTRUCTION

---

To the President of Wellesley College:—

I have the honor to submit the following report of the Committee on Graduate Instruction for the year ending June 30, 1919.

During the academic year 1918-19 there were eighteen resident graduate students. Four of these completed their work and received the degree of Master of Arts in June, 1919. In addition to these, one non-resident graduate student completed her work and received her degree in June. The major subjects of these five students were as follows:—

Botany . . . . .	1
English Literature . . . . .	1
German . . . . .	2
Physics . . . . .	1

The major subjects of the eight graduate students of 1918-19 were distributed as follows:—

Art . . . . .	1
Botany . . . . .	1
Chemistry . . . . .	1
English Literature . . . . .	5
Geology . . . . .	1
German . . . . .	2
History . . . . .	1
Mathematics . . . . .	1
Philosophy . . . . .	3
Spanish . . . . .	1
Zoology . . . . .	1

Four graduate students withdrew during the year. Ten graduate students were instructors or assistants in departments of the College, and seven others held graduate scholarships.

Twelve of the graduate students had taken the baccalaureate degree at Wellesley College. The following institutions were represented by one student each: Collège Sévigné, DePauw University, Franklin College, Instituto del Cardinal Cisneros, Northwestern University, University of Michigan.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE

The holder of the Alice Freeman Palmer Fellowship for the year 1918-19 was Teresa Cohen, B.A. Goucher College, 1912; M.A. Johns Hopkins University, 1915; Ph.D. Johns Hopkins University, 1918. Miss Cohen spent the year at the University of Illinois, working in Mathematics in the special fields of Finite Groups and Higher Plane Curves.

Through the efforts of members of the faculty, sufficient money was subscribed to pay for the board and lodging of a student from one of the countries allied with the United States in the war, but, unfortunately, the student who was selected failed to carry out her plan of coming to Wellesley College for graduate study.

The decrease in the number of graduate students is attributed by the committee to conditions due to the war, since many women who might have been attracted, in normal years, to graduate study, have been called to positions connected with war relief or reconstruction.

Respectfully submitted,

ANNA JANE MCKEAG,
Chairman.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

---

To the President of Wellesley College:—

I have the honor to submit the following report of the administration of the library for the year ending June 30, 1919.

We have added to the library during that period 2,227 volumes, 1,928 by purchase, 299 by gift; the number now owned by the library being 87,696. We have expended $4,187.05 for books, $1,439.33 for periodical subscriptions, and $765.47 for binding, including rebinding and repairs, a total of $6,391.85. This sum is derived from the income of funds and gifts as follows: Horsford fund, $5,187.60; Kirk fund, $367.83; Abbott fund, $2.85; Shafer fund, $115.36; Sweet fund, $134.70; Wenckebach fund, $12.50; Morse fund, $11.97; from insurance, $102.29; from fines collected, $298.86; from gifts for the purchase of books in two courses in English Literature, $27.79; from two other gifts, $25.00; from an appropriation for the purchase of duplicates, $105.10.

The important purchases of the year include volumes of three periodicals destroyed in the fire and not yet entirely replaced; the Journal of Comparative Neurology and Psychology, 6 v., Archiv für mikroskopische Anatomie, 9 v., Royal Society of London, Proceedings, Series A, 8 v. We have also obtained v. 1-16 of the Monthly Notices of the Astronomical Society of London, and the Philosophische Monatshefte, v. 1-30, to complete our files. Porter's Lombard architecture, 4 v., is a valuable addition to the library of the Art Department, while two interesting purchases are mentioned elsewhere in this report in connection with the rare books now in the library.

Besides the usual number of gifts from institutions and other friends of the college, the following are worthy of special mention. From Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw, The Wild Flowers of New England photographed from nature, eight folio volumes, privately printed in 1910-14; from Mrs. Edward J. Tytus, the handsome publication issued by the Metropolitan Museum of Art in the Robb de Peyster Tytus Memorial Series, The Tomb of Nakht at Thebes, by Norman de Garis Davies; from Mr. John Horton, the library of his sister, Miss Mary E. Horton, which was divided between the library and the department of Greek; from Miss Caroline Hazard, a very beautiful manuscript, a Rituale probably of the 14th or early 15th century of unusual charm and interest, and a Cantorinus printed at the Giunta Press in Venice in 1550, a very rare example of this kind of early manual for the use of choir-masters in mediæval churches and other religious establishments.

Mention was made in the report of the librarian for 1916-18 of the number of early printed books owned by the Wellesley College Library, included in the Census of Fifteenth Century Books owned in America, then being published by the Bibliographical Society of America. That list has now been completed and includes fifty examples of incunabula owned by us of which twenty-one are the only copies owned in America as far as reported. The Plimpton Collection, of course, furnishes the larger part of this number, but there are eleven fifteenth century books in the general collection. Three of these have been added to our list since the publication of the Census, one by purchase and two which were overlooked in the preparation of the list because bound with a third. The total number owned by the library, therefore, is fifty-three.

Of course a library of limited means does not purchase incunabula as such. We have, however, long sought to obtain a work of a certain mediæval philosopher not represented in our collection and therefore felt ourselves fortunate in obtaining the Quæstiones super Universalibus Porphyrii ac libris Prædicamentorum et Perihermenias Aristotelis of Duns Scotus, printed in Venice by Johannes and Gregorius de Gregoriis in 1492. Another important acquisition for the philosophical collection was the Pantheisticon of John Toland, printed at London in 1720 and now very rare.

During the week of March 9-16, an exhibition of some of our rare books was held every afternoon in the Treasure Room for members of the faculty, students and others interested, and the attendance was very gratifying. Altogether about one hundred and fifty persons took advantage of the opportunity to see these library treasures. During the Conference for Church Work which was held at the College after the close of the academic year, the Treasure Room was open one afternoon, and a great many members of the Conference attended the exhibition of early religious manuscripts, Bibles, and rare editions of the works of writers of the reformation period. At the same time there were displayed examples of the collection of tracts and sermons published during the lifetime of Savonarola belonging to the Plimpton Collection. For some time before Commencement, we had displayed in one of the cases in the Exhibition Hall a collection of paper money issued by the occupied regions and municipalities of France and Belgium during the war. This was loaned by Mr. Edwin Farnham Greene and was of much interest to everyone who examined it.

The circulation of books during the year has shown an increase over that for the year 1917-18 as will be seen by the following table:—

Total number of books circulated 1917-18 . . . . .	30,209
Total number of books circulated 1918-19 . . . . .	31,394
Charged to students (including reserved books) 1917-18 . . . . .	26,001
Charged to students (including reserved books) 1918-19 . . . . .	26,980
Charged to members of the faculty 1917-18 . . . . .	4,208
Charged to members of the faculty 1918-19 . . . . .	4,414
Reserved books circulated 1917-18 . . . . .	9,682
Reserved books circulated 1918-19 . . . . .	16,324

The problem of finding space for the constantly increasing number of reserved books demanded by the large classes is becoming a very serious one. Many duplicates must be provided and instructors ask for more and more material. It takes the entire time of one person to attend to placing, recording, and removing this material from the shelves when a change is made by the instructor. Books are constantly disappearing when most needed, as the selfish and dishonest student has no scruples about appropriating at least temporarily a much sought book of which there are barely two or three or five copies for a class of seventy-five or more. An appropriation for the purchase of duplicates will enable us to mitigate this situation somewhat as regards the number of copies available; but the problem of space still remains. It will probably be necessary to remove some sets of periodicals now in the large reading room to the stack and put more reserved books in that room. This is unfortunate as the presence of a number of students searching for books between class periods is a disturbing factor for those who are studying in the room, but it seems to be unavoidable. The removal of classes from the building made possible by the erection of Founders Hall will, however, materially decrease the disturbing noise and confusion between periods, and also release some rooms where students who wish to study together without annoying others may do so. At present it will be possible to provide space on the regular shelves for duplicates not in use, but eventually the accumulation of these and the acquisition of new material will necessitate addition to the steel bookcases in the rooms in the south end of the building. This will become necessary first in the Science Room, probably. It is manifestly impossible that one room, however spacious, should provide for the needs of the science libraries indefinitely and also provide seating space for students. It is much to be hoped that when the science buildings now contemplated are built, room will be provided in them for very sizable collections of books. The library would continue to act as a place for storage of the less used material and the various collections could be administered from the central building.

In this connection the question of all such departmental collections is one which, with the growth of the College, will call for careful consideration as to the best means for systematization and administration. At present all books in these collections are catalogued in the general library; some departments have catalogues in their own buildings; some have not; the hours when the collections are accessible to students differ; the oversight of the books by the departments differs. The Music Library is the only one which has a regular attendant and student assistants directly responsible to the librarian. The department of Hygiene has a trained librarian who classifies the books for that department, and gives her entire time to its library, and the Art Department has a curator in charge of the library who is responsible to the head of the department. In other cases, the library is in charge of an assistant who gives what time she can spare to the work in connection with it.

With part of the time of four assistants given to the cataloguing under the direction of the Head Cataloguer, the classification and cataloguing of the current accessions has proceeded satisfactorily, while gratifying progress has been made in the work of replacing the old cards by printed cards with the accompanying labor of transferring numbers, subject headings, etc., to the new cards, the necessary revision and filing. This has been completed for nearly 4,000 volumes, representing about 3,000 titles, and printed cards have been ordered and received for as many more. All entries for books catalogued during the year have been made on the large cards and these have been filed in a small case kept near the present catalogue. Unfortunately, it was not possible to install the new cases during the holidays so this was postponed until summer, but by the opening of College, we hope to have them in place and the cards filed together. For some time, of course, both large and small cards will be filed together in the trays. When the replacing of the small cards by those of standard size is completed, it is hoped that a portion of the old case may be set up near the desk in the south end of the building, where a file of author cards for books in that part of the library may be kept for reference, as the distance from the present catalogue is so great. It will, however, be some years before this can be done.

Although it was not thought wise during the war to urge the completion of the Brooks Memorial Room as contemplated for a booklovers' room, where books and furnishings should have the character of a private library, it is hoped that with the return to normal conditions, it may be found possible to interest some donor in providing the means for carrying out this plan. The class of 1891, to which Miss Brooks belonged, has collected a small sum for this purpose, and other friends stand ready to add to this when the possibility of obtaining the amount necessary to make a suitable beginning toward furnishing the room has been secured.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE

More and more it becomes evident to college librarians and to all thoughtful people that the propagation of the apparently rapidly disappearing booklover is in need of encouragement in these days of overcrowded reserved shelves, of insistent vocational guidance literature, of all that makes for the immediate and practical and timesaving in reading rather than for the leisurely book-tasting, the knowledge of books as friends not tools. Many students now in college have never seen the private library of a man or woman of taste and cultivation, and it would be a part of such an one's education not to be despised if she were made familiar with the appearance of such a room, though she should not read a book from the shelves. The nucleus for the book collection is already in our hands, but just as important as the books is the furnishing of beautiful and tasteful surroundings. As stated in the report of the librarian for 1916-18, a plan for the decoration and furnishing has been approved and only awaits the necessary funds for carrying it out. Meanwhile some beautiful pictures belonging to the department of Geology and temporarily stored in the library have been hung in this room, and several special collections of books housed there, including the private library of Miss Mary B. Jenkins, who on leaving Wellesley last summer for service abroad, most generously insisted that her books should be made available for use during her absence, and requested the library to take charge of them with this end in view.

In closing this report, it is a pleasure to acknowledge the cordial co-operation of the Library Committee and of the Associate Librarians as well as that of the entire library staff, without which the library could not be of such service to the college community.

Respectfully submitted,

ETHEL DANE ROBERTS.

REPORT OF THE TREASURER

OF

WELLESLEY COLLEGE

For the Year ending June 30, 1919

WELLESLEY COLLEGE

TO THE TRUSTEES OF WELLESLEY COLLEGE :

The financial statement of Wellesley College, for the year ending June 30, 1919, is herewith submitted by the Treasurer. The following comments may help to explain the significance of the details shown in the accompanying statements.

RESOURCES AND LIABILITIES

The balance sheet given in Exhibit A, shows that the total resources of the College amount to $7,803,853.04; of this total $3,553,057.15 represents invested trust funds while the remainder $4,250,795.89 represents current assets and plant.

The current liabilities amount to $63,355.01 and the deferred income to $111,372.50. The current assets consisting of current cash, inventories and insurance amount to $185,985.29, and the excess of current assets over current liabilities amounting to $122,630.28 represents the working capital of the college. The greater part of this working capital is provided by the prepaid fees and the unexpended income stated under the heading of "income deferred."

Plant—$4,064,810.60:

This item is made up as follows:—

Land . . . . .	$426,141.03
Buildings, and Fixed Equipment . . . . .	2,929,534.42
Movable Equipment . . . . .	709,135.15
Total . . . . .	$4,064,810.60

Further details are given in Schedule 2. The total shows an increase of $454,035.44 over the preceding year which is explained as follows:—

Additions to plant as detailed in Schedule 1 . . . . .	$460,035.44
Deduct:—
Amount written off the book value of the temporary Administration Building . . . . .	6,000.00
	$454,035.44

The additions include the real estate acquired by the College through bequests from the Durant Estate and the Horton Estate. The Durant home has been converted into the College Guest House.

The item of $6,000 written off the book value of the temporary Administration Building leaves $27,080.09 on this account.

The valuation of the equipment is based on the office records. A new appraisal has recently been prepared by the officers of the College and it will be shown on the books next year. No amount has been written off the buildings for depreciation. It has been the policy of the College to make each year considerable expenditures out of income for additions and improvements to plant. These expenditures may therefore be considered to offset, to a large degree, a depreciation charge.

TREASURER'S REPORT

Investment of Trust Funds—$3,553,057.15:

These investments comprise the following:—

Cash in Bank . . . . .	$35,387.67
Investment in College Dormitories . . . . .	352,906.68
Pledges Receivable . . . . .	51.50
Securities, viz., bonds, mortgages and stocks, per Schedule 5 . . . . .	3,164,711.30
Total . . . . .	$3,553,057.15

Securities—$3,164,711.30:

The bonds of corporations amount to $2,893,463.80 at book value and the market value at June 30, 1919, was $2,774,821.48 showing a fall of $118,642.32 which is about 4 per cent of the book value. The stocks show a corresponding fall of $21,628.20 equal to about 10 per cent. of the book value. From these securities the College received income equivalent to 5.46 per cent on the average capital investment therein. In making this computation the Rumford Chemical stock is excluded as it pays an exceptionally large rate of dividend.

Investment in Dormitories—$352,906.68:

This investment is being gradually reduced by instalments paid out of income, so that in course of time these dormitories will be transferred to, and form part of, the College plant.

The uninvested cash belonging to the endowment funds is deposited with the Merchants National Bank of Boston in a separate account from the current income cash.

Loan Payable—$20,000.00:

This represents a note payable on demand and discounted at the Merchants National Bank.

Income Deferred—$111,372.50:

This amount is made up of the following items:—

Application fees prepaid . . . . .	$41,995.00
Unexpended gifts for special purposes . . . . .	1,888.74
Unexpended income of trust funds, per Schedule 3 . . . . .	66,843.14
Unexpended library fines . . . . .	645.62
Total . . . . .	$111,372.50

WELLESLEY COLLEGE

It has not yet been possible for this income to be separately invested. It now forms part of the College working capital.

General Capital Fund—$4,076,068.38:

This fund represents the capital of the College invested in its plant and also in cash, inventories, and other working assets.

Trust Funds—$3,553,057.15:

This item shows a net decrease over last year of $184,588.52 which is explained as follows:—

Additions to Principal:

Legacies and Gifts—

English Literature Professorship . . . . .	$42,427.50
Sarah E. Whitin Fund . . . . .	25,000.00
Helen J. Sanborn Scholarship Fund . . . . .	10,000.00
Charlotte M. Fiske Fund . . . . .	10,000.00
Helen J. Sanborn Library Fund . . . . .	5,000.00
Richard H. Sturtevant Fund . . . . .	1,000.00
Class of 1912 Fund . . . . .	1,001.99
Currier-Monroe Fund . . . . .	500.00
Farm Fund . . . . .	452.68
Gift for Peal of Bells . . . . .	187.50
Julia Josephine Irvine Fund . . . . .	65.00
Alumnæ General Endowment Fund . . . . .	44.75
Indian Library Fund . . . . .	1.89
	$95,681.31

Income added to Principal:

Restoration Fund . . . . .	$30,184.23
Maintenance Fund for Academic Buildings . . . . .	12,285.28

Fund for Entrance Gates . . . . .	464.23
Gift for Peal of Bells . . . . .	322.42
Sophie Jewett Memorial Fund . . . . .	26.48
Ethel H. Folger Williams Fund . . . . .	20.70
	$52,935.47

Profit on Securities . . . . . $2,400.73

Newman Memorial Fund . . . . . $1,000.00

Transferred from Current Fund—Restoration Fund $222.47

Total Additions to Principal . . . . . $152,239.98

TREASURER'S REPORT

Deductions from Principal:

Expended on New Building from Building and Equipment Funds as stated on Schedule 1 . .	$336,828.50
Net decrease in Funds . . . . .	$184,588.52

The decrease in the funds is confined to the Building and Equipment Funds, and is due to the expenditure of capital moneys on the construction of Founders Hall and other buildings, thus fulfilling the purpose for which the funds were established. The permanent endowment of the College has increased by $115,967.64. Particulars of the various funds are stated in Schedules 3 and 4.

Income and Expenditure:

Particulars of the income and expenditure for the past year are stated in Exhibit B. The result is briefly stated as follows:—

1917-1918		1918-1919
$477,780.00	Current Income . . . . .	$549,046.92
492,564.96	Current Expenditure . . . . .	552,227.81
$14,784.96	Deficit of Income for the year .	$3,180.89

In arriving at the above figures the results of the dormitories and bookstore are shown net, the earnings of these departments being deducted from their expenses.

Current Income—$549,046.92:

The account given in Exhibit B shows the current income with the corresponding figures for the preceding year for comparison. The increase is $71,266.92.

The tuition and laboratory fees have remained about the same. The maintenance fees show this year the increase due to the advance from $50 to $100. This maintenance fee is a sum charged to cover increased costs under the present abnormal conditions. Later such portion of this fee as it may be necessary to retain will be divided between tuition and board. The dormitories have yielded no income this year but on the contrary have resulted in a loss which is included in the expenditure.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE

Endowment Income—$109,160.01:

The following statement shows the gross endowment income and how it has been used:—

ENDOWMENT INCOME 1918-19

Unexpended income of restricted funds brought from last year . . . . .	$57,623.61
Interest and dividends received . . . . .	262,299.29
	$259,922.90
Gross endowment income available . . . . .
Used as follows:—
Annuities paid . . . . .	$855.80
Added to principal of accumulating funds . . . . .	52,935.47
Added to reserve fund . . . . .	29,382.02
Expended for current purposes, per Exhibit B . . . . .	109,160.01
Library fines transferred to current funds . . . . .	696.46
Newman Memorial Fund Income . . . . .	50.00
Unexpended income of restricted funds carried forward to next year, per Schedule 3 . . . . .	66,843.14
	$259,922.90

Current Expenditure—$552,227.81:

The principal heads of expenditure, with the corresponding figures for the preceding year, are given in Exhibit B, and show an increase of $59,662.85. The greater part of this increase is due to the dormitories which this year have cost $49,371.88 instead of being a source of revenue as in the past.

The increase in the maintenance fee has proved just sufficient to enable the College to meet this increased expenditure and to show a deficit of only $3,180.89 as compared with $14,784.96, the deficit for the preceding year.

Dormitories, etc.—$49,371.88:

This item comprises the dormitories, the hospital, and the bookstore.

The cost of operating the dormitories is of importance in financing the College. The following schedule gives an analysis of the dormitory expenses for the last two years.

DORMITORIES 1917-1919

Net Increase in Cost . . . . .			$62,586.55
			<hr/>

The continued rise in the cost of wages and commodities is again reflected in an increase of $62,586.55 in the dormitory costs. The above table shows that the increases lie almost entirely in the expense of wages, provisions, heating, lighting and maintenance. The heavy increased cost for the preceding year brought the surplus down to $22,820.70, and the further increased cost this year has converted the surplus into a deficit of $39,765.85. Against this loss the College has received an added income through the increase of its maintenance fees.

Respectfully submitted,

LEWIS KENNEDY MORSE,
Treasurer.
